

CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA

20TH INTERNATIONAL
CONGRESS ON INFECTIOUS
DISEASES (ICID) 2024

3 - 6 DEC 2024

What to Expect

The 20th ICID in Cape Town brings together over 2,500 infectious disease experts from more than 100 countries. Exhibiting at the Congress allows you to reach key decision makers and professionals at the largest global infectious disease meeting on the continent. The ISID and our many stakeholder partners are working together to create a unique event focused on clinical knowledge and practice, novel translational science, infection prevention protocols and the epidemic intelligence of infectious disease. Every 2 years, the Congress - where world-renowned experts share innovative ideas and colleagues spark critical connections - is a place for our global industry and medical community to share groundbreaking solutions for prevention, management, and cutting edge treatments for all those impacted by infectious diseases in a One Health context.

The International Congress on Infectious Diseases is the largest congress of its kind in the world, providing an unmatched multi-track schedule with:

- Pre-Congress Workshops
- Policy Discussions
- Early Career Researcher Track
- Meet-the-Experts
- Exhibition Hall
- Local Artisan Market
- Climate Awareness Activities
- Private Meeting Suites
